New Canadian Opportunities

Pre-launch announcement: The New Frontiers in Research Fund (NFRF) Special Call: Research for Post-Pandemic Recovery is scheduled to launch in February 2022. The purpose of the Special Call is to mobilize Canadian-led research efforts in support of a more equitable, sustainable, and resilient post-pandemic reality. Projects must directly address one more of the research priorities of the UN Research Roadmap for the COVID-19 Recovery. This competition will support two-year grants of up to $500K (including indirect costs), with a total funding commitment of $24 million.
New: NSERC has launched Alliance International Catalyst and Collaboration Grants. Application deadline: No fixed date. Catalyst grants are up to $25,000 for up to one year; and Collaboration Grants are $100,000 per year for up to three years. These grants support Canadian researchers to work with leading international academic researchers, to establish and grow international research collaborations relevant to Natural Sciences and Engineering disciplines. Overall objectives: initiate development of international collaborations; support participation in international collaborative projects of global importance and benefit to Canada.

New CIHR Opportunities

Pre-announcement: Pediatric Cancer Consortium funding opportunity: Supporting the 2021 Federal Budget announcement on strategic research on pediatric cancer, this opportunity will address the creation of a Pediatric Cancer Consortium. Read more. Anticipated dates: Launch: Mid-December, 2021; expression of interest due January 2022, application deadline Winter 2022, notice of decision, winter/spring 2022. Funds available: approximately $30 million over two years (approval of funding is pending).

Pre-Announcement: Transforming public health: 2021 – Chief Public health Officer of Canada Report Funding Opportunity. Anticipated launch: January 2022. Total funding: $2,000,000, enough to fund approximately 20 grants (four of which will be reserved for ECRs who have never held a CIHR open operating grant as NPA). Maximum per grant is $100,000 per year for one year. Goal is to support research on population and public health priorities identified in the 2021 CPHO Annual Report. A list of priorities will be published in January 2022.

Deadline Extended! Planning and Dissemination Grants. All Institutes offer funding, some of which is directed towards early career researchers. Funding varies, generally around the $10,000-$20,000 mark. New Deadline: February 1, 2022.

Network Grants in Oral Health and Bone Health: Registration deadline February 8, 2022; full application due March 8, 2022. Two awards will be made: one application to oral health (maximum of $2,000,000 over five years), and one to bone health ($1,200,000 over three years).

Operating Grant: 14th JPIAMR transnational call for research projects. Pre-proposal to JPIAMR due March 8, 2022, and full proposal to JPIAMR (and short application to CIHR) due July 5, 2022. This call will support research into therapeutic/agricultural interventions to improve efficacy, specificity, delivery, combinations and/or repurposing of drugs and plant protection agents to treat bacterial or fungal infections in One Health settings. Funds available: Total amount is $900,000, enough to fund the Canadian component of up to two joint transnational teams. Maximum amount per grant is up to CAD$150,000 per year for three years, for a maximum of CAD$450,000 per team.

Operating Grant: Healthy cities research initiative: Data analysis using existing databases and cohorts. Application deadline April 12, 2022. Funds available: $600,000 enough to fund approximately six one-year grants of up to $100,000 each. There are two pools: Healthy Cities Intervention Research General Pool; which will fund approximately four applications; and the Urban Indigenous Health Pool, which will fund approximately two applications.

Catalyst Grant: HIV/AIDS and STBBI Community-based Research. Application deadline April 24, 2022. The goal of this grant is to provide seed money to support CBR research activities that are a first step towards obtaining funding grants. Funds available: $600,000 enough to fund approximately six grants. Maximum amount per grant is $100,000 per year for up to one year. There are two pools: General pool – up to three grants; Indigenous pool – up to three grants.

Operating Grant: HIV/AIDS and STBBI community-based research. Application deadline April 24, 2022. Total funds available: $1,800,000, enough to fund approximately four grants. Maximum per grant is $150,000 per year for up to three years, for a total of $450,000 per grant. Of the total, there are two pools: General pool, $900,000, enough for two grants; and Indigenous pool, $900,000, enough for two grants.

This grant will support co-development, implementation, evaluation and equitable spread/scale of pragmatic solutions to challenges with transitions in care from a clinical, health care or health system perspective. Areas of focus: 1. Across the lifecycle; 2. Changing health status or care; 3. Key populations to optimize transition in care outcomes. Specific research areas: Indigenous health research; care transitions for older adults facilitated by digital health technologies; mental health care for post-secondary students; primary care and community mental health care for youth; mental health for black youth. Funds available: $11,520,000, enough to fund approximately 12 grants. Maximum amount per year is $240,000 per year for up to four years for a total of $960,000 per grant.

The Spring Project Grant registration deadline is February 9, 2022, with full application due March 9, 2022. UofT applicants must submit their MRA by March 2, 2022. CIHR reminds applicants that applications focused on global health or include international collaborations are eligible. Also, applications involving interdisciplinary research are accepted and encouraged. More information will be made available closer to the registration deadline about whether the tri-Agency Interdisciplinary Peer Review Committee will be used in this competition. New! Priority Announcements include pediatric cancer research; patient-oriented research; sex and gender in health; health services and policy research; genetics (bridge funding); and more. CIHR will hold webinars on Wednesday, January 26, 2022, at 11 am, and Thursday, January 17, 2022, at 1 pm.

Launched! Health System Impact (HSI) Fellowship. Application (via ResearchNet) deadline: February 24, 2022. Funding start date: September 1, 2022. This award has two streams. Stream A is for doctoral trainees. Maximum amount per award is $50,000 per year for up to one year. Stream B is for postdoctoral fellows. The maximum amount per award is $155,000 over two years ($70,000 per year for two years plus a research allowance). This competition is an experiential learning opportunity within a health system organization where awardees spend most of their time on a co-developed program of work that advances the organization’s impact goals. Doctoral students: talk to your supervisor to find out whether this opportunity is right for you. Read more about past recipients and archived funding opportunities. The HSI Fellowship is open to Canadians, permanent residents, and citizens of other countries but must be held in Canada.
